THE STORY

A Gift for Pedro

In 1887 a letter waits three months in a drawer at the Salvador notary: an uncle you barely knew has left you a wattle-and-daub house and a field in the Recôncavo.

You cross the bay on a saveiro and step onto the pier of Bom Jesus dos Pobres, where Pedro, a fisherman in his twenties, teaches you to farm, fish and make manioc flour. They say that on moonlit nights the Matinta Pereira whistles in the forest.

The real map of Bom Jesus dos Pobres, the sea from DHN nautical chart 1108 and the church rebuilt from photos.
